

What the press is saying about us

Quevedo 2011 Vintage Port: 96 points - Quite sweet on the nose, with luscious dark fruit, chocolate and ginger that are complex and supported by an ironclad structure. Pure, offering a refined finish filled with white pepper notes. Best from 2035 through 2060 - K.M. Wine Spectator November 2013

Claudia Quevedo is the very talented young wine and Portmaker behind the scenes, while her globetrotting brother, social-media butterfly Oscar Quevedo, is the face of the winery and he's making a big splash internationally this year. Roy Hersh, FTLOP, May 2010, USA

Quevedo 1996 Colheita: Elegant and crisp, with a sweet end, this is a strong on nutty flavors and beautifully balanced. As it pulls itself together after opening, it delivers a burst of acidity and a whiff of brandy, becoming a bit more nuanced and interesting. This is not a blockbuster, rather one aimed more at those who appreciate the elegance and refreshing acidity, but it gradually grew on me and stayed in balance. It is a charming youngster. 89 points. Mark Squires, eRobert Parker, December 2012

Quevedo - Quinta Vale d'Agodinho 2010 Vintage - Clear, intense ruby colour. Intense in ripe black fruits and candied fruit, black plum, figs, and in floral notes reminding of violets and heath, elegant. The mouth reveals the dark chocolate and the mulberries, tobacco leaf, balsamic notes, which join the aromatic profile, great acidity and plenty of freshness, smooth tannins, powerful finish. 17.7 points, Best of the Tasting. Revista Paixão pelo Vinho, February 2012, Portugal

Sharp on the nose, aggressive blackcurrants with a twist of mustard leaves. Incredibly thick texture, by far the thickest of the 2008 samples tasted. Mouth-filling sweet fruit, deep and concentrated; rich and with balanced but pronounced tannins. Massive fruit on the aftertaste, big finish full of dark chocolate and ripe blueberries. 92-94/100. The standout Port from the vintage, the one every port-lover should add to their cellar. Alex Bridgeman, July 2010, UK

Quevedo Colheita 1994: A really nice wine with dried prunes, figs and lots of nuts and spices. Port wine for those who want to pamper themselves. Ekstra Blader 13th November 2010, Denmark

Oscar's 2008 red wine: Oscar Quevedo, a new start of the Douro, has produced a stylish wine, suffused with tannins, fresh acidity, solid black fruits and a lively bright feel. It is ready to drink, but could age 3-4 years. Best Buy. Roger Voss Wine Enthusiast January 2010, USA

Oscar's 2010 red wine: Oscar Quevedo is one member of a new generation of winemakers bringing a breath of fresh air to the Douro. His everyday wines, like this one, are friendly, fruit and delicious when consumed young. This is a great wine for a barbecue. Best Buy Roger Voss, Wine Enthusiast January 2012, USA

Quevedo Pink Port is a restrained but fresh-floral nose. On the palate, spicy, fresh, integrated notes. Round finish. Very Nice! Weinwisser n + 7 + 8 / 2 0 1 1 , Germany

Quevedo LBV 2004: Um vinho muito bonito. Intenso e refinado, bem armado em um frutado refrescante que lembra amoras, mirtilos framboesas e cerejas frescas e em confeito. Muito bem perfumado, elegante, um perfeito fumé perpassa o vinho, lembrando algo de trufas. Redondo, equilibrado, final longo e de classe. Nota 92. Gosto Vinhos, Novembro 2012, Brasil
